Controls Necessary in Food Crisis

Export-Import Regulations Vital for Curing World Ills

WASHINGTON.—The sudden descent upon Columbia's shoulders of the mantle of world leadership has forced the President to add all sorts of odd jobs to his other extra-constitutional functions. Traveling salesman is one of them. Almost before he learned his way around the White House, he had the United Nations assignment at San Francisco. Hardly was he back from the Golden Gate when he was ordered to Potsdam. He already has become our "flyin' chief executive. The Mexican trip was scarcely over when he was called to the wearying vigil at his mother's bedside.

Meanwhile he has conducted White House business without encountering too much criticism for being absent without leave. In fact, his popularity with the public has grown.

But at this writing some of his followers are growing a little restive about what they call his apparent neglect of certain issues which ought to be brought emphatically before the public.

What was considered a crisis in world affairs was met successfully by overwhelming congressional support for the post-UNRRA relief and Greek-Turkish aid bills. Although at times it has balanced upon a rather thin edge, the solidarity of bipartisan foreign policy has been maintained. But there is another matter which these most concerned declare has not been brought home to the public—the world food situation.

There are two important facts: 1. Two years have passed since the end of the war and the world food situation is no better.

2. Although congress (the people) has been willing to vote huge funds for relief, it appears unwilling to continue certain controls on business, without which the machinery for helping the stricken countries to their feet will break down.

The first job is to bring home the seriousness of point one. The second job (which has been dumped into the President's lap) is to convince congress of the importance of point two.

Press and radio have been asked to help with the first job. They are trying. Here's one small contribution. In terms of dollars the destruction caused by World War II was seven times that of World War I. Recovery is, therefore, at least seven times as hard. Economic difficulties are multiplied more than sevenfold because of political dimculties. It is impossible to estimate the "destruction" in terms of what has happened to social and political values.

As to point two, that becomes a concrete issue which ought to be in debate before these lines are printed; namely, the question of extending certain wartime controls over exports and imports.

Briefly, if export controls go off, foreign nations can bid against each other for food. Wheat, for example, That will send the price of wheat skyrocketing. What does that mean? In the first place it means the country with the most money gets the most wheat, regardless of its need. Others go hungry. It means the American taxpayer will have to pay a fancy price for the wheat the government buys. It means extra American dollars which could be used to buy other American products, which would encourage production, will be sucked out of foreign pockets and world trade will be stifled by just that much. That is an argument for extending controls on exports.

Fortunately there are also a lot of "selfish-interest" reasons for controlling some exports. It's this way: The man who extracts oil from soy beans, although he is quite willing to have his oil exported, probably can sell it here anyway. But he doesn't want beans from which he gets the oil sent out of the country. The man, who refines the oil doesn't mind having his refined product exported but he doesn't want the unrefined oil (his raw material) which he has to buy, exported; the man who uses that refined oil to make margarine doesn't want to compete with foreigners for it, although he's quite willing to have foreigners buy his margarine. These mixed motives don't add up to a very good argument for congress, because the only controls desired are for the other fellow. It doesn't generate too much pressure because there are enough "agins" to balance the "furs."

But when it comes to imports, it's a different story. Take fertilizer. Britain and the United States, straining to increase production, now are using twice as much fertilizer as in prewar years. That is all right. But the destitute European countries with their very tired soil need every ounce they can get—and if there were no import controls they would get less—the rich buyers would get more. The pressure on congress is all against limiting importation of fertilizer.

Some imports into America are, of course, highly desirable—to get those American dollars abroad in order that foreign nations may buy raw materials and other things. But if we are to keep the rest of the markets alive until they can feed themselves, what we give out and what we take in will have to be made to fit the needs of the situation, not the desires of the American businessman who doesn't realize that if he is given too free a hand he'll be cutting off his own nose with it.

LIVING BARRIER PROTECTS CHILDREN . . . Whether the danger come from tigers or autos, mothers always are ready to protect their young. When a narrow residential street in Columbus, Ohio, became a speedway for motorists, aroused neighborhood mothers formed a living barrier to traffic to permit their children to cross the street from the school bus in safety.

Farm Budget Cuts Hit; Train Fares Increased

FARM FUROR:

Stormy Weather

Possibly the most violent storm of the year, according to the economic and political barometer, is the one which was raised when the house appropriations committee recommended a 32 per cent cut in department of agriculture funds for the coming year.

Anderson

Slashing more than 383 million dollars from the amount asked by President Truman, the committee opened the floodgates of a deluge of protests from Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture, and Democratic congressmen, who claimed they would fight the action right up to next year's elections, if necessary.

Declaring that the reduction "directs a sharp cut at the interests of the American farm family and the general welfare," Anderson said that the "greatest harm" would be to the soil conservation program, the farm price support program and programs designed to help veterans and low income families become better established.

The 32 per cent cut would eliminate the Agriculture Adjustment Administration by July 1, 1948. Currently, the AAA is carrying on its basic program of promoting soil conservation on 3,500,000 cooperating farms by paying farmers for following practices intended to increase soil fertility and, hence, to increase production. The proposed fund slash would mean that farmers this year would be paid about 50 per cent of what they previously had been promised.

In answering the criticism, the house appropriations committee said that its recommended cuts are "selective" and reasonable—based on actual farm needs.

HOUSING:

Unfounded Hope

Popular belief that any substantial reductions in the cost of new housing will occur in the near future is not founded on realities. That assertion was made by James C. Downs Jr., president of the Real Estate Research Corporation, who explained that besides being geared to a high national debt, housing costs, like prices of other hard goods, are directly affected by the large demand for American capital and production by other countries.

"The housing shortage today is worse than a year ago," he said, "and it will continue to grow progressively worse for some time."

He pointed out that increased earning power has put a greater number in the market for new homes, but at the same time builders are afraid to start new construction because of high costs. The theory that prices would drop kept many persons from buying or building homes last year, Downs said.

TRAVEL PAY:

Train Fares Up

To offset increased operating costs, Interstate Commerce commission authorized an approximate 10 per cent increase in basic passenger fares for 60 railroads operating east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

The change will boost one-way passenger rates from 2.2 to 2.5 cents a mile in coaches and from 3.3 to 3.5 cents a mile in sleeping and parlor cars. There will be an increase of about 15 per cent in coach round-trip rates and about four per cent in Pullman round-trip fares.

In granting the increase, ICC noted that these railroads which requested the new rates incurred a deficit of 54 million dollars from passenger train operations last year.

IT'S WONDERFUL:

Long Time Peace

Announcing the immediate abolition of capital punishment in Russia, Soviet authorities explained the move on the grounds that it was made possible by Russia's growing strength, the people's patriotism and the certainty of peace "for a long time."

Said the Moscow radio: "The international situation during the time after Germany's capitulation and Japan's capitulation shows that the cause of peace can be considered secure for a long time in spite of attempts by aggressive elements to provoke war."

Meanwhile, Herbert Hoover looked on the other side of the mask to charge Russia with attempting to bleed the United States through relief channels and blaming her for the economic paralysis of Japan and Germany.

He declared that further relief will remain necessary as long as the Soviets continue their obstructionist tactics and demands for reparations, thus blocking peace treaties with the two countries and keeping their economies paralyzed.

Humanity Is at the Crossroads

Two reports in the news recently caused some interesting comments in Washington on the international situation.

Charles Reese, extension apiculturist of University of Ohio, recently reported that because of the late season and resultant scarcity of pollen on which bees feed, many of the drones (who do not work and are reserved for social purposes only) have been pushed out of the hives by the workers. Pocket lines have been formed and the drones are not allowed to re-enter. They die in the damp and cold.

"These (the bees) is not a very pleasant society," says apiculturist Reese. "Five activity is conspicuous and utterly ruthless."

A statement by Andre Visson, French writer who syndicates a column in American newspapers, was the second inspiration for unofficial comment. Visson said:

"The world has indeed entered into a contest between Americanism and Communism."

This pearl of wisdom laid beside the dispatch from Columbia moved a certain engineer economist-philosopher to the observations which follow:

For the first time, this pundit pointed out, the human race is really at the crossroads. Life has followed two paths, one taken by the animals another by those who have in them something that distinguishes them from the beast. One path has been close to materialistic pleasure. Nietzsche, Hegel, Marx and the monster who was created out of their theories, Hitler. The other is the one illumined by the thought and action of those who from east or castle, from work bench or cluttered hall, lived in the belief that the activities of the state or the individual, should be measured against something other than material forces.

It has been shown that animals, when they master technology, tend to form a perfectly regimented, totalitarian state. Take the ants and the bees. They long ago were able to do what Hitler planned and had begun to practice—charge the nature of species, not only by creating a special environment for the young but also by feeding it certain foods.

The bees carefully segregate the hables (the eggs) and by feeding them three different menus produce three different classes, the workers, the drones and the queen. Hitler had well-worked-out theories for producing a slave-class by feeding the children certain vitamins, withholding others, weeding out all those undesired by the Nazi state, feeding and training a ruling class (Fuehrerprinzip).

And now, the followers of Marxism-Leninism are set up to carry out the principle.

APPALLING WASTE

Mounting Fire Loss Predicted

CHICAGO.—With fire losses continuing to mount, damage may exceed the billion dollar mark by 1950, Frank A. Christensen, president of National Board of Fire Underwriters, warns in urging support of the federal action program to save life and resources which was the result of President Truman's conference on fire prevention.

The increasing fire waste was attributed by Christensen to two causes, one physical and one psychological.

"The physical factor tends to increase the number of fires of all kinds, and the size of losses where flames gain headway because of delayed alarms, poor fire protection, negligence or bad housekeeping," he explained.

"The psychological factor arises out of our careless and reckless habits," he explained.

Christensen pointed out that since 1941, national waste by fire has more than doubled, rising to 616 million dollars for the 12 months ended April of this year from 300 million dollars for 1941.

"Even more appalling," he said, "is the indication that the loss of life may have risen to a figure never experienced before. Loss of life in hotel fires in 1946 was greater than in any year in our history."

Despite a 22 per cent increase in arson investigations, the national board had found a sharp decline in the number of fires started for profit during the last year.

The board pointed out that in the year ended April 30, juveniles accounted for almost half of the persons arrested because of incendiary fires, and persons mentally irresponsible for another large share.

Grateful Pauper

The philosopher Schleiermacher was delivered out of a serious illness by the ministrations of the celebrated Dr. Grate. When well on the road to recovery, the patient sent his physician the sum of twenty-five dollars.

The good doctor evidently found the sum grossly inadequate, for he promptly returned it to Schleiermacher with the pointed comment: "Wealthy people pay what they like; the well-to-do pay the regular fee; the poor pay nothing."

To which the celebrated philosopher replied: "For the return of the twenty-five dollars which I had sent you, please accept poor Schleiermacher's sincere thanks."

Grapefruit Sponge—a Refreshing Dessert
(See recipe below.)

Fruit Magic

When lazy warm weather comes upon us and foods don't tempt the appetite, Mrs. Homemaker is hard pressed to provide her family with enough nourishing food to sustain them. Families seem to prefer the lightest of food, and it sometimes is hard to build up the calorie count on salads and cold meats.

But fruit and rich milk or cream can come easily to the rescue when other means fail. There are so many delectable refrigerator desserts made of fruit and berries and cream that it will take more than a season to try them all.

First of all there's the shortcake variety. Bake your biscuits golden brown, split and butter them and then drizzle luscious crushed and sweetened fruit or berries between the biscuits. Drown them in cream, either plain or whipped, and watch them disappear.

Then, too, there's an amazing variety of frozen desserts which take their share of fruit and cream. These take but a few minutes to make and keep well for several days in the refrigerator.

If you're shy on sugar use preserves or fruit sauces, and you won't have to dip into the sugar bowl at all.

TRY SOME of these recipes and your warm weather problem will be solved:

Apricot Sherbet.
(Makes 1 quart)
1 cup evaporated milk, thoroughly chilled
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup apricot preserves

Whip chilled milk very stiff. Beat in lemon juice, then fold in preserves. Pour at once into cold freezing tray and chill for several hours.

Variations: Strawberry, cherry or peach preserves or marmalade may be substituted for apricot preserves.

Apple Sherbet.
(Makes 1 quart)
1 cup evaporated milk, thoroughly chilled
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups sweetened applesauce, chilled
Dash of nutmeg

Whip chilled milk very stiff. Beat in lemon juice. Fold in applesauce and nutmeg. Pour at once into cold freezing tray and chill well.

Orange Ice Cream.
(Serves 8)
20 marshmallows
1 cup orange juice
Grated rind of 2 oranges
Juice of 1 lemon
1/2 pint whipping cream

Add 2 tablespoons of water to the marshmallows and place them in the top part of a double boiler. Stir constantly until the marshmallows are half dissolved. Remove from heat and stir until creamy.

Cool, add orange juice, rind and lemon juice. Whip cream until thick and add to the mixture. Place in tray and freeze, stirring often, until firm.

LYNN SAYS:
Good Housekeeping Secrets
When cooking cabbage or onions, the objectionable odor may be eliminated if the vegetables are cooked in half milk and half water. Use any excess liquid for making cream soups or curls.

If you like crisp skins on baked potatoes, scrub clean and then rub with a metal sponge and bake.

To retain color in green vegetables, cook in an open pan with a minimum of water and watch cooking time carefully.

Butterscotch Ice Cream.
(Makes 1 quart)
3 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 cup milk
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold milk
Pinch of salt
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Cook butter and sugar in top of double boiler, until butter is melted and well blended with sugar. Add milk and heat to boiling. Mix cornstarch with cold milk and stir into butter and sugar mixture; add salt and cook until thickened. Cool and add vanilla.

Fold in whipped cream and turn into refrigerator tray and freeze, stirring once during freezing.

Marshmallow Delight.
(Serves 8 to 10)
1/2 pound marshmallows
1 1/2 cups diced or crushed pineapple
1 pint whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla

Cut marshmallows into quarters. Add pineapple and place in a covered container overnight. Whip cream, add sugar and vanilla. Fold whipped cream into marshmallows and pineapple, add cherries. Pour into freezing tray and allow to chill thoroughly or partially freeze before serving.

(Serves 6)
3 eggs, separated
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup canned, unsweetened grapefruit juice
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
Berries

Beat egg yolks until light. Add 1/4 cup sugar and beat well. Add grapefruit juice and cook mixture over boiling water until it coats a spoon. Stir constantly. Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Add to hot grapefruit juice mixture and cool until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining sugar. Fold into cooled mixture and pour into a one-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on a plate and serve with sliced or crushed berries in season.

Fresh Peach Cream.
(Serves 8 to 10)
2 cups fresh peach pulp
1 cup granulated sugar
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons cold water
1 1/2 cups coffee cream

Combine peach pulp, sugar, extract and lemon juice. Add coffee cream. Pour into tray and freeze. Remove tray and stir once during freezing process. The stirring may be done in the tray.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Old Lady of the Family

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

"There are old ladies who are unmitigated pests, and there are old ladies who are angels, filling in all the gaps in the younger household."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

IF YOU are the old lady of the family, stop now and then and take stock of yourself.

Ask yourself what you are doing that annoys the family, or any member of it, and helps make trouble.

The position of an old lady who is dependent upon her family, and living with son or daughter, is an extremely hard one. It is bound to be full of small vexations, humiliations, limitations of which the younger crowd doesn't dream. They try—to a greater or lesser degree, depending upon the type of people they are—to be considerate and generous, but most of the time it just isn't possible; life sweeps on at today's rapid pace, and Mama just has to take it, and make the best of it.

So Mama has real reason to feel aggrieved, and she nurses her troubles and exaggerates them until they break out on the surface. They break out in sharp and bitter little jabs at the younger people, in complaints, in comparisons, in long sighs and periods of depression, and all these lower the home average of content and serenity, and give everyone a chance to mutter impatiently, "Oh, it's just Mama again!"

Now, since George and Marjory, wonderful as they are, are not going to change, and the children can't be expected to grasp the situation at all, it is decidedly up to Mama to be the one to make the concessions. It isn't fair, of course, for Mama once was a strong and loving and protective influence in her children's lives, ready to sacrifice everything she had for their benefit. Once she was mistress of a household, and she had to give orders, and spend money. It isn't easy for her to agree with Marjory's ideas, even when Marjory is her own flesh-and-blood daughter. When Marjory is her daughter-in-law instead, of course, it is ten times harder.

Forget Comparisons, Justice. But just the same, if Mama wants to win for herself a happy old age, now is the time for her to abandon all thoughts of comparison, all resentful memories of the past, all sense of justice, indeed. Now is the time for her to study every member of the family, and every event of the domestic day, and think how she can make herself more quietly useful, sympathetic, loving. This is a hard ruling, but Marjory will come to it, too, someday, and even baby Marjory, delicious now at three years old, may someday find herself superfluous, dependent and alone in the midst of her own people.

So, Mother, if that is your position, use your imagination and try to see just how the family regards you. Check up on yourself. There are old ladies who are unmitigated pests, and who keep a household shrill with argument and complaint. And there are old ladies who are angels, filling in all the gaps in the younger household; there to mend small garments, to put away laundry items, to answer telephones to slip into the kitchen and help with dishes after the party, to sit with the babies at night, to support the work of the nurse in a crisis, to quietly fill the home atmosphere with service and love.

Are you doing any of these things, or a thousand others that rattle the home current? There is no harm, at least, in thinking it over, and perhaps surprising the person you love most in the world, with a change for the better.

For Graying Hair
Be careful of the dress colors you choose, if your hair is graying through the grayest stage.

What you want to rule out of your wardrobe are browns, tans and yellows. These seem to emphasize the unwanted tinge in hair.

By picking powerful opposites in dress colors you can play down the undesirable tinge in your hair. Navy blue and dark blue-green are usually good. A very dark gray dress color can dominate your tinge with a yellowish cast.

Toy Banks That Performed
When Deposit Was Made

Between the years 1885 and 1900, the toymakers of America produced some 200 types of mechanical toy banks, atop which figures would perform when a coin was inserted and a lever pressed, says Collier's. The more ingenious ones were those whose figures themselves deposited the coins.

In one, a baseball group, the coin was placed in the hand of the pitcher, who then hurled the ball (coin) which was missed by the batter and disappeared in the catcher. In another, a Negro boy standing in the door of a cabin turned a somersault and kicked the coin into a slot under the roof.

John Spinney recently sold a cow.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Once again the Supreme Ruler of the Universe has called to the great grange above, one of our loved ones, Slater Ella Brown, a beloved member of Bear River Grange.

Slater Brown was our oldest member and while able, she attended our meetings as regularly as possible, until she was confined to her home.

She was loved by all who knew her and will be greatly missed in her neighborhood.

Whereas, we know that He who doeth all things well, has called her, and said "Well done, good and faithful servant," we deeply realize our loss and that of her family.

Therefore, be it resolved that we extend our sincere sympathy to the family of the deceased sister.

That these resolutions be spread upon our records, also that a copy be sent to the Bethel Citizen for publication and one to her family and that our charter be draped for thirty days.

Sometimes the shadows gather, And the clouds are in the sky, Sometimes we cannot see the sun, For the tears are in our eyes; But always in the darkness We are under God's great hand, And in his fragrant garden, We will wake and understand, Each year the Father calleth Our loved ones to eternal rest, And our hearts are filled with anguish can but feel "He knoweth best."

Respectfully submitted,

C. S. CHURCH REPORTS PROGRESS LAST YEAR

Mrs. Helen Chaffee Elwell, C. S. of East Hebron, N. H., and Boston, who was elected President of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston last week, is a local member of The Mother Church. The preparatory years of her education were in New York, followed by the completion of her schooling in the city of Washington.

Christian Science first came to her family in the Philippines Islands while her father, Lieut. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, was Military Governor, following his command of the international forces in China during the Boxer Rebellion, and prior to his becoming Chief of Staff of the United States Army. The study of the Christian Science textbook, and witnessing the healing power of Truth for members of her family, satisfied Mrs. Elwell that Christian Science, as revealed by Mary Baker Eddy, was the reinstatement of primitive Christianity as taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus.

Mrs. Elwell became a member of The Mother Church in 1913, receiving class instruction in the same year. She has had membership in several branch churches as her travels permitted. Upon residing in Boston, she entered the public practice of Christian Science in 1923. She was for five years Assistant Superintendent of The Mother Church Sunday School, and for four years a member of the Christian Science Bible Lesson Committee. Mrs. Elwell has just completed a term of three years service as Second Reader in The Mother Church.

Affirming that God rules the affairs of man, The Christian Science Board of Directors told the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, that neither fear nor animosity can give evil power to boast itself over good.

Supporting this challenge, Mrs. Helen C. Elwell, newly elected President of The Mother Church, urged both pulpit and press to unite in a crusade of righteousness. The hour has struck, she indicated, "for the Church to dare to be a David."

To "the harassed employer and the dissatisfied worker" and to nations generally, the Directors and the President of the Church held out the hope of harmony, not as a miracle, but rather as a simple witnessing to the fact that amity springs naturally from the application of spiritual power.

Not only improved industrial relations and better government, but also the health of the individual can be attained through spiritual understanding, the Directors contended.

Continuing on this theme, Mrs. Elwell said, "There are those who see little hope for amity among the nations, who even despair of establishing harmony, peace, or even friendliness among the families of the earth. Their world is dark, indeed."

The Christian Science Monitor, the Trustees disclosed, attained new circulation peaks in 1946 and gained an increase of 2,600 new advertisers using its columns for a recent aggregate of 22,300 advertisements. The paper also instituted the unique and popular practice of completing all front-page stories on the front page, the Trustees said.

Installation of new printing presses capable of producing 120,000 40-page Monitors per hour, and the restoration of color covers to the Magazine section, were added to the Monitor's progress report for the year.

William D. Kilpatrick, Manager of Committees on Publication, reported the failure of many pieces of legislation that would have prevented not only inimical to the democratic practice of Christian Science, but also injurious to the entire citizenry.

Gordon V. Comer, Clerk of The Mother Church, disclosed a substantial increase in church membership in 1946. His report covered the wide fields of postwar activities, literature distribution, Sunday School Division, and the Department of Branches and Practitioners, all of which attested to the general revival of religious progress throughout the postwar world. This was seen in the opening of new Reading Rooms, the reopening of churches in war-swept lands and the replenishing of world-wide demands for Christian Science periodicals.

His report disclosed that more than 200,000 food parcels were sent to Christian Scientists in 25 hunger-ridden countries during 1946, that food parcels were also transported directly to churches and societies in 11 European countries, and that a gift of 17 tons of books and periodicals was forwarded to German churches the moment shipping channels were reopened.

C. S. CHURCH REPORTS PROGRESS LAST YEAR

Mrs Helen Chaffee Elwell, C. S. of East Hebron, N. H., and Boston, who was elected President of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston last week, is a local member of The Mother Church. The preparatory years of her education were in New York, followed by the completion of her schooling in the city of Washington.

Christian Science first came to her family in the Philippine Islands while her father, Lieut. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, was Military Governor, following his command of the international forces in China during the Boxer Rebellion, and prior to his becoming Chief of Staff of the United States Army. The study of the Christian Science textbook, and witnessing the healing power of Truth for members of her family, satisfied Mrs. Elwell that Christian Science, as revealed by Mary Baker Eddy, was the reinstatement of primitive Christianity as taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus.

Mrs. Elwell became a member of the Mother Church in 1913, receiving her class instruction in the same year. She has had membership in several branch churches as her travels permitted. Upon residing in Boston, she entered the public practice of Christian Science in 1923. She was for five years Assistant Superintendent of The Mother Church Sunday School, and for four years a member of the Christian Science Bible Lesson Committee. Mrs. Elwell has just completed a term of three years service as Second Reader in The Mother Church.

JOHN PAYNE, Maureen O'Hara and the rest of the cast and crew of "Miracle on 34th Street" had several unscheduled incidents to cope with while working in New York. For instance, they were working in one of the city's largest department stores, shooting in cramped quarters under a battery of kilowatt lights. The resultant temperature rose so high that the store's sprinkler systems went off at periodic intervals, thoroughly drenching the Hollywood contingent. Payne and Miss O'Hara had to change costumes in a hurry.

THE FICTION CORNER

THE HURRICANE CANDLE

By EDWIN RUTT

THE landlord was very old. He moved with slow, tentative steps, as if afraid that his legs might buckle and collapse under the weight of his great, shrunken body. His hair was the color of bleached silver; the backs of his hands were mottled and the veins stood out, starkly blue. But his face had the somber dignity that the sea stamps upon those who follow her. You couldn't discount this man because he was old. He had presence.

Hurlow and I were on our way to Narrsett Banks for some fishing and the old inn had appealed to me. We had a creditable dinner, cooked and served by a Portuguese woman.

"She's a white Portygee," Mr. Hendrickson, the landlord, explained. "Couldn't get along without her. She comes early and goes late."

We were the only guests. Indeed, I gathered that people staying the night there were few and far between. After dinner we sat in a low, beamed-ceilinged room that overlooked the sea. Far below we could hear the Atlantic snarling and raving at the foot of the bluff.

Presently the old man got up and went out. He returned shortly carrying a lighted candle. I'd never seen an arrangement just like it before. The candle was set in a candlestick, but the flame itself was protected by a high chimney blown in the shape of a gigantic drinking glass. The purpose of this was obvious. The large chimney would protect the flame against being snuffed out by wind.

Hurlow was interested. "What's that?" he asked. You had to raise your voice when you spoke to Mr. Hendrickson.

The old man set the candle in the window. It cast a dull, livid light. "That's a hurricane candle," he explained. "They use 'em in the tropics. My grandfather brought this one from the West Indies. That was a long time ago now."

"But why put it in the window?" Hurlow pursued.

For a moment the old man looked at him blankly. "Why?" he said at last. "Um, I don't know as I rightly know why. Because it always has stood in that window at night, I expect. For four generations. As long as we've owned this inn. As long as there's been Hendricksons at sea."

"And are there Hendricksons at sea now?" I ventured.

The old man's eyes lighted. "There's one. My son, Tom. Born on boats since he was eighteen. Same as the same as my father and grandfather before me."

I didn't like to pry into his business. But I was curious about this queer custom of burning the candle.

"How old would your son be now, Mr. Hendrickson?" I asked.

He reckoned on his fingers. "Let's see," I was forty-eight when Tom was born. That would make him—ten, twenty—Tom's thirty-five now if he's a day. He ain't been home for seven years." Something like a sigh followed. "But he'll come. The Hendricksons always come back. He'll take the inn here when I'm gone. He'll marry and have sons. And like as not he'll burn the candle for 'em when they grow up and go away to sea."

"It's a nice custom," I said inadequately.

"Custom?" said the old man. "Yes, that's what it is. A custom. Always done it. And I expect we'll go on doing it. Until we don't own this old inn any more or, maybe, until all the Hendricksons are gone. I don't know." His voice trailed. "I don't know."

The old man was still in his chair—but his head seemed to have dropped further on one side.

"Have you any other sons?" inquired Hurlow.

"No. No more sons and no daughters at all. Just the one, just Tom."

Outside the sea was banging the cliff with more force. Ponderous, smacking blows. There was a whine in the wind.

"It's getting rough out there," Hurlow said.

I looked at the old man. He had fallen asleep in his chair.

"He's pretty ancient," I said. Hurlow was walking around.

"This is an eerie place," he said. All at once the candle flickered. "That candle's getting low," I remarked. "Think we ought to wake him?"

"Why?"

"I don't know. But he mightn't want it to go out."

Hurlow began exploring in a corner.

"Hello," he said presently. "A radio?"

"Turn it on and you will wake him," I said.

"I doubt it," Hurlow spun the dial. Low sizzly music stole into the room. The old man never stirred. The candle flame wavered again.

"Let's take that candle away from the window," I said. "The wind must be getting at it through the chinks."

"How can it with that glass dingus?" said Hurlow. "Ah ha, here's a news commentator."

The news commentator came on crisply. A strike in Minneapolis. I listened without much interest. Suddenly, unexpectedly, the news commentators voice rose higher.

"Port of Spain, Trinidad. A violent hurricane struck Trinidad this afternoon, destroying property valued at half a million dollars. But so far as can be learned only one life was lost and the man, unfortunately, was an American. Able Bodied Seaman Thomas Hendrickson was swept to his death from the tanker Pocohontas when the gale struck Port of Spain harbor."

THE words seemed to crash like stray lightning into the room. For a second we stared at one another in stunned silence. Then Hurlow gasped, "Hendrickson" and snapped off the radio.

I wheeled around then. The old man was still in his chair. But his head seemed to have dropped further on one side and he had slumped down.

Suddenly Hurlow darted across the room and took hold of his wrist. But he straightened up presently and turned to me, a puzzled, half-frightened expression on his face.

"Something's wrong, Jimmy," he said. "I—I can't find his pulse. And he—he isn't breathing."

I leaped to my feet, but stopped before I could take a stride. A queer, gray shadow seemed to steal across the room. There was a faint flicker of light, a faint hiss. The hurricane candle guttered and went out.

KEEP A GOAL IN SIGHT

In one of the largest cities in the United States there is a doctor who has had considerable success in putting distraught and unhappy people back on the right track to happiness and success. His method is beautifully simple.

Whenever a person, feeling he needs a doctor's advice, comes to this doctor, the doctor puts pieces of plain white paper and a sharpened pencil in front of the patient.

"Before we start with your case," he suggests, "I want you to write down on that paper your goal in life. When you get it down in black and white I believe we can really go somewhere."

Nine persons out of ten cannot define their goal at all, much less write it. In other words, nine out of ten men and women lead purposeless, goalless lives. The doctor believes they can't find happiness until their goal is clear and in full view.

"If your goal in life is clear, you will adjust yourself to the goal, but if your goal isn't clear or if it's an unworthy goal, how can you expect to be very effective or attractive to others?" he asks.

I realize that what I have said here might sound a little bit theoretical and academic to you. I assure you, however, that it is neither. Setting the goal and keeping it is one of the big secrets of attaining the kind of personality and winning the kind of success and happiness that you want.

Suppose your goal is the general goal of a business or a social success. That's a very common goal. All right. It's worthy. Write down exactly what you want to get out of life, write down your goal boldly.

To attain that goal you've just written down, you know that you have to make yourself acceptable to certain persons—perhaps to customers in your business or to the kind of men and women you want to associate with in society.

To be acceptable to them your personality must be the kind which they will approve. It must include certain traits—generosity, charm, pleasantness, magnetism, other positive qualities.

The next thing you have to do is spend at least half an hour in self-analysis, trying to decide what, in the final analysis, you have to do to attain the goal which you set for yourself.

About Our Presidents

JOHN TYLER was the first vice president of the United States to become Chief Executive upon the death of a President (William Henry Harrison).

SINCE TYLER'S TIME, six other vice presidents have become President through the death of a President. They are: Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, Coolidge and Truman.

PRESIDENT ANDREW JOHNSON was a tailor seven years before he learned the alphabet.

MARTIN VAN BUREN was secretary of state under Andrew Jackson before he succeeded him as President.

Household Hints

If you have a job that keeps you on your feet all day, try placing a powder puff in the heel of your shoe.

When ripping snap fasteners from denim or cloth, keep the point of the ripper in a small hole in a card and snapping the fasteners in it.

To clean black or dark blue felt, use a teaspoonful of ammonia mixed with half a cup of cold tea.

Pin hankies on the line along the top of the sheet. They will dry faster, and the extra pins will help keep the sheet from blowing away. This also saves line room for other pieces of clothing.

In working with plywood it is well to remember that even the very best grade has defects on one side while the other side is nearly perfect.

Cook meat longer at a low, constant temperature if you want to avoid shrinkage. You'll get a golden brown surface on your roasts this way too.

The proper way to use a hammer is to grip the handle close to the end.

When sending things to the cleaner, if possible tell him the history of spots on the garments to be cleaned.

Keep tablecloths from wrinkling by folding them in half and winding them on a large roll of newspaper.

Circus Performer Loses Pants, So We Have Tights

Circus tights were invented in 1820 by Nelson Hower, a hunchback rider. In those days, circus performers wore costumes consisting of a short jacket, knee breeches and stockings, but Nelson Hower's costume was acceptably modest. He realized he had nothing to wear just a few months before it was time for his act. When his cue came Hower appeared in the arena wearing his long knit underwear, and circus tights were invented.

Economic Highlights—from page 1 radius of 1,000 yards from the center of the blast. Practically no deaths occurred outside an area of 3.1 square miles. And, within that area, about half of the people survived, and virtually all of these have completely recovered from injuries and illnesses sustained.

However, the bomb did kill 80,000 people at Hiroshima—by blast, by radiation, and by fire and drowning. Stories to the effect that the bomb caused permanent sterility, fatal radiation sickness and induced cancer have not been substantiated. In most cases radiation sickness passed in a matter of weeks, and the only result of the bomb now appearing on Japanese survivors is disfiguring but not serious scar tissue on faces and bodies. Temporary sterility was common, but disappeared shortly.

Plant life in the Hiroshima base area shows some signs of abnormality—such as white leaves caused by radioactivity. But the profusion of growth seems about the same as before.

At Bikini, nearly 5,000 animals were exposed on target ships during the two bomb tests. The air burst killed some 20 per cent of these—ten per cent by radioactivity and ten per cent by blast. The underwater explosion was much more lethal—more than 80 per cent of the animals perished, largely by radiation. According to the U. S. News, "Many of these died from lack of prompt treatment." Surviving animals were definitely affected and were restless and irritable for a week or two. Some developed leukemia. Studies made of sick animals, it is said, have resulted in an effective treatment for radiation sickness. From the information thus gained, the scientists have projected what an atomic attack might do to United States cities. One Nagasaki-type bomb (a more advanced type than that used on Hiroshima) bursting in the air would be lethal over some 3.1 miles. That amounts to 2 per cent of the area of Detroit, 4.3 per cent of Washington, D. C., and 0.9 per cent of New York. It is forecast that deaths would be proportionately less than in Japanese cities, due to superior American building construction.
